FOREWORD

In February 1948, one of us (H.F.S.) gave a talk before the National Genealogical Society on Long Island genealogical source material, based upon personal bibliographic information collected to that date. The bibliography was published in the June 1948 issue of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly, Vol. XXXVI, No. 2, pp. 61-66, and subsequently reissued as Genealogical Publication No. 9 of the National Genealogical Society. This is now out of print.

In the years since it has become evident that there is a very real demand for a more complete bibliographic index of Long Island genealogical source material (excluding family genealogies unless in compendiums). Accordingly, in 1958, the Council of the Society proposed to reprint Publication No. 9 but, at the request of the original author, agreed to issue a revised and augmented edition. In the last two years and a half, the present authors have united their experience and efforts to this end, and the result is a bibliography increased from the original 125 references to 845 and more. Within the time allotted and the opportunities afforded, we have endeavored to make this compilation as complete as possible.

The reader should know, however, that whatever comprehensiveness the bibliography may possess, has been made possible because of the fine and sympathetic cooperation of our good friends. We wish particularly to mention the following: Mrs. Amy O. Bassford, Librarian of the Long Island Collection, the East Hampton, New York, Free Library; Mr. Archibald F. Bennett, Librarian and Secretary of the Utah Genealogical Society; Miss Edna Huntington, Librarian (retired), the Long Island Historical Society; Miss Pauline King, Assistant Librarian, the New England Historic Genealogical Society; Miss Marjorie Leek, Curator of the Long Island Collection, the Queens Borough, New York, Public Library; and Mrs. Mary Walsh, Librarian, the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. We appreciate also the advice and suggestions received from our friends on the staff of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, the New York (City) Public Library and the Library of Congress. In the case of the last, we acknowledge the timely and expert assistance of the Union Catalog Division and of the librarians associated with Col. Willard Webb. Mr. Alvin R. L. Smith of Centereach, Long Island, is responsible for making available to us the analytic list of the Brookhaven Town Cemetery Book, and Miss Marjorie Leek has listed by location the cemetery inscriptions in the Frost and Meigs collections. We wish also to thank Mr. Wayne R. Stevenson of Bethesda, Maryland, for his patient and meticulous assistance in the preparation of the manuscript and the arrangement of the lists.

This book is divided into four parts: (1) a numbered, alphabetic bibliography by author wherever possible, otherwise by place, annotated with the Library of Congress Union Catalog symbols for libraries wherein the referenced book may be found; (2) an alphabetic listing of every referenced location, associated with the code numbers from the author list for

A reader interested in locating material on a specific town, or a family that lived in a specific town, should turn first to Part II, where under the name of the town will be found the key index numbers of the books, articles, or manuscripts listed in Part I which contain information on that town. Then look in Part I for such number or numbers (shown in right margin), where the author and title will be found. Below each such entry are symbols indicating the libraries where the book or manuscript may be consulted. The names and locations of such libraries are shown in Part III.

1. The first of these is the fact that the United States is a young nation, and that its history is a history of growth and development. It is a history of a people who have been able to overcome many difficulties and to build a great nation out of a small colony.
2. The second fact is that the United States is a nation of immigrants. It is a nation of people who have come from many different parts of the world, and who have brought with them their own customs and traditions. This has made the United States a very diverse nation, and it is one of the reasons why it is so strong.
3. The third fact is that the United States is a nation of freedom. It is a nation where every man is free to follow his own path, and where every man is free to express his own opinions. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so respected by the rest of the world.
4. The fourth fact is that the United States is a nation of progress. It is a nation that is always looking for new ways to improve itself, and that is always willing to try new things. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so successful.
5. The fifth fact is that the United States is a nation of peace. It is a nation that has never been at war with itself, and that has always been a friend to the rest of the world. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so loved by the rest of the world.
6. The sixth fact is that the United States is a nation of justice. It is a nation where every man is treated equally, and where every man is free to follow his own path. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so respected by the rest of the world.
7. The seventh fact is that the United States is a nation of hope. It is a nation that is always looking for a better future, and that is always willing to try new things. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so successful.
8. The eighth fact is that the United States is a nation of love. It is a nation where every man loves his neighbor, and where every man is free to follow his own path. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so respected by the rest of the world.
9. The ninth fact is that the United States is a nation of faith. It is a nation where every man believes in God, and where every man is free to follow his own path. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so successful.
10. The tenth fact is that the United States is a nation of courage. It is a nation where every man is willing to stand up for his beliefs, and where every man is free to follow his own path. This is one of the reasons why the United States is so respected by the rest of the world.

The 1918 epidemic of influenza was a world-wide phenomenon, and it is probable that it was the most severe epidemic of influenza ever recorded. It was characterized by a high mortality rate, and it was accompanied by a high morbidity rate. It was also characterized by a high fatality rate, and it was accompanied by a high morbidity rate.

Dear Professor Emswiler:

I am writing to you regarding the proposal for a new research project in the field of organic chemistry.

I have discussed this with the members of the department and they have agreed to support it.

I am sure that your research will be of great value to the

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and interesting in the history of science. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of life, and shows that the most probable one is the theory of spontaneous generation. This theory is based on the fact that life is everywhere, and that it is impossible to find a place where it does not exist. The author also discusses the question of the origin of the first living organisms, and shows that the most probable one is the theory of the origin of life from non-living matter. This theory is based on the fact that the elements of life are everywhere, and that it is impossible to find a place where they do not exist. The author concludes that the origin of life is a problem that has been solved, and that the most probable theory is the theory of spontaneous generation.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a detailed discussion of the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that this theory is based on the fact that life is everywhere, and that it is impossible to find a place where it does not exist. The author discusses the various experiments that have been conducted to test this theory, and shows that the results of these experiments are in favor of the theory. The author also discusses the question of the origin of the first living organisms, and shows that the most probable one is the theory of the origin of life from non-living matter. 4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed discussion of the theory of the origin of life from non-living matter. It is shown that this theory is based on the fact that the elements of life are everywhere, and that it is impossible to find a place where they do not exist. The author discusses the various experiments that have been conducted to test this theory, and shows that the results of these experiments are in favor of the theory. The first of the two main questions which arise in connection with the future of the world is the question of the future of the human race. It is a question which has been asked by philosophers and statesmen for many centuries, and it is one which is still of great importance to us to-day.

The second of the two main questions is the question of the future of the world. It is a question which has also been asked by philosophers and statesmen for many centuries, and it is one which is still of great importance to us to-day.

The first of these is the fact that the United States is a young country. It is only about 150 years old, and its history is therefore a history of youth. This is a great advantage, for it allows us to see the country in its infancy, and to study its growth and development from the beginning.

Another advantage is that the United States is a large country. It covers a vast area of land, and has a large population. This allows us to study the country in its entirety, and to see the effects of its size and population on its history.

A third advantage is that the United States is a free country. It has a long history of freedom, and its people are free to express their opinions and to live as they see fit. This allows us to study the country in its freedom, and to see the effects of its freedom on its history.

Finally, the United States is a country of great diversity. It has many different peoples, languages, and customs. This allows us to study the country in its diversity, and to see the effects of its diversity on its history.

These are the advantages of studying the history of the United States. They show us that the United States is a young, large, free, and diverse country, and that its history is a history of growth and development.

It is for these reasons that the history of the United States is a subject of great interest to all who are interested in the history of the world. It is a history that shows us the growth and development of a young country, and the effects of its size, population, freedom, and diversity on its history.

The history of the United States is a history of youth, of growth, of freedom, and of diversity. It is a history that shows us the growth and development of a young country, and the effects of its size, population, freedom, and diversity on its history.
